

CREW Research Seminar

Work, Climate Change, Sustainability

WARWICK
LAW SCHOOL

EXPLORING JUST TRANSITION AND BEYOND

With the inauguration of the ILO Global Forum on Just Transition in late 2017, the concept of ‘just transition’ – for some time now promoted by labour movements – has been mainstreamed into policy debates on climate change-related economic and industrial adaptation, or eco-modernisation. Yet what just transition entails and, crucially, what renders it just in different contexts is not straight forward. Even the question of how the labour movement is addressing climate change varies widely. Participants in this seminar will examine the promises, limitations, and contestations around just transition as a concept and a strategy. They will also consider what such a transition might entail from the perspective of subsistence economies, or those that are developing or emerging.

Confirmed Speakers:

Sam Adelman (Warwick), Stefania Barca (Coimbra), Alice Mah (Warwick), Vivian Price (Cal State), Nora Räthzel (Umea), Paolo Tomassetti (Adapt, Modena Reggio Emilia), David Uzzell (Surrey), Ania Zbyszewska (Warwick)

DATE: Wed, 25 April 2018
TIME: 10:00-16:00
Social Sciences Building
Cowling Room S 2.77

Lunch will be served

Open to a limited number of participants.
REGISTER by emailing
crew@warwick.ac.uk